

The Arizona State University Sun Devil Marching Band is recognized as being one of the finest marching bands in the nation. The 300 member ensemble has appeared in both the Rose Bowl Half-time show as well as the 1987 and 1997 Rose Bowl Parade and was the 1991 recipient of the John Philip Sousa Foundation Sudler Trophy, which is the highest award given at the collegiate level. Performing in the 74,000 seat Sun Devil Stadium, the band features new musical arrangements as well as a mixture of precision drills and pageantry at all home games. Most recently in the band's history ASU has performed with Tower of Power and Little Richard in our halftime performances; as well as appeared in the 2008 Superbowl events and President Obama's speech to the 2009 graduates of Arizona State University. Hard work, high standards and a family atmosphere bring a very special Sun Devil Pride that only those who have been a part of the marching band understand and share.

CONCERT BANDS

The Concert Band in the ASU Herberger Institute for Design and the Arts is open to all ASU students without audition. As a concert band member, you play among students who are music majors, as well as those pursuing other fields of study. The concert band rehearses and performs mainly traditional band literature, giving one or two major performances per semester.

The Arizona State University Wind Ensembles constitutes the School of Music's premiere wind band experience. The numerous ensembles comprising this innovative program offer students a wide array of performance and educational experiences via the study of repertoire ranging from historic wind band literature through a diversity of contemporary music. Its instrumentation include multiple complete consort of all wind instrument families, a large percussion group, and a small group of strings, piano, guitar, and harp players.

Rather than single ensembles sitting in separate rehearsal rooms for an entire semester, a large block of time and multiple rooms allows for the free flow of students and faculty between numerous ensemble spaces and throughout various artistic/educational ventures that are centered on a rich assortment of musical and trans-media projects.

YOU IN THE BAND

The incoming student is given an opportunity to take part immediately in an activity that stands at the center of campus life. Membership into any of the ASU Bands is open to all university and community college students. The only prerequisite is that students have some prior band experience. In addition to close friends and school spirit, the band offers musical rewards for the aspiring musician as well as a unique and rich experience for the non-music major who enjoys music as an avocation. We truly believe that our band program is one of the finest to be offered by any university in the country. If you have any questions, please call the band office at (480) 965-4392 or visit our web page at...
