About The Auburn University Marching Band

Founded in 1897, the band program at Auburn University is one of the oldest and largest in the country. Band members are chosen by audition and represent virtually every academic discipline on the Auburn campus. About 50 of the 330 band members are music majors preparing for careers in performance or teaching. In addition to the music majors, the remaining members are in the band for the sheer enjoyment that the college band experience provides. The 1996 A.U. Marching Band includes members from Arkansas, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, and Virginia, as well as Alabama.

The Auburn University Bands are housed in the Goodwin Music Building, a structure made possible through the generosity of the James W. Goodwin family of Birmingham. The marching band practices on the Wilbur "Bodie" Hinton Field. Completed in 1985, Hinton Field is considered to be the finest marching band facility in the nation.

Since its beginning, one of the primary goals of the Auburn Band has been to foster the great AUBURN SPIRIT. With over thirty performances and exhibitions starting prior to Fall Quarter and running until the end of football season, the Auburn University Marching Band does just that.

Next year, the Auburn Band will celebrate its 100th birthday. Plans are already underway for this event to be held during fall, 1997. An agreement has been finalized to publish a Commemorative History of the Auburn Band. Copies will be made available to band alumni, friends, and supporters on a pre-subscription basis.
